Narcotic Policy

To our valued patients,

Due to the changing landscape of medical care and concerns over improper prescribing and over use of narcotic pain medications, Executive Urgent Care will no longer issue prescriptions for chronic pain medications or other controlled substances that are being written by primary care or pain management providers. These medications must be managed by your specialist or primary care provider.

If your primary care or specialty provider is unable to see you and is willing to approve our writing you a short-term prescription until such as time as that provider can schedule a face-to-face visit with you, have the provider call our office and speak to our provider on duty. Our office will do all we can to assist in writing a short-term prescription. This will be on a very limited basis, and not to be construed as routine practice. We urged patients to schedule appropriate and timely appointments with their specialty / primary care providers to facilitate ongoing management of chronic medication needs.

We appreciate your understanding and look forward to caring for your other Urgent Care issues.
